About This Content

11-11 Memories Retold WarChild Charity DLC tells the story of Jack and Eva, two children drawn into World War I – a conflict much bigger than they are. Their stories are told in the form of letters, drawings and photographs found throughout the game and collected in your journal. The children's letters are inspired by real stories of conflicts by children supported by the WarChild charity. Whatever the war, their suffering remains the same.

A portion of the proceeds from the DLC will fund WarChild's activities, helping children forced to live with the brutality of war around the world. Together we can work to protect and educate children caught up in war.

Our home is lost.

Our youth is lost while we wait for our country to return.

Our wishes are lost, our hearts are broken.

Our tears have dried in the hopes of you returning.

Oh, my country . . .

"Our home is lost
Our youth is lost while we wait for our country to return
Our wishes are lost, our hearts are broken
Our tears have dried in the hopes you returning
Oh, my country, Oh, my country
No one cares enough to answer my screams
Our news doesn't change, it is always the dead and the injured
Our blood became the headlines
This is our news, this is our daily show
Another episode of breaking news
Nothing changed except we became refugees
We hear a mother crying as she searches for her son's grave
Another mother crying as she searches for her son under the rubble
of the house
And another mother crying as she mourns over her disabled son
But our country does not know where to go to cry
Regret does not help us now
Our country is displaced."

Document from War Child: Omar's poem

Eva's story 3

"I feel depressed knowing that my home is gone. When I think about not going back to my home, I feel homeless.

How can I be happy when I have lost my home, my school, my best friends and my homeland?

The worst part is, I can still hear the bullets and explosions in my head. They never go away. Why is it, I have to take care of myself and even have to take care of others?

I met a boy today who was blind. I asked him how he had come to be this way. He said, "There was a loud explosion, I don't know what happened. I lost both of my eyes and I was not able to see my brothers and sisters' beautiful faces anymore!"
